New 'JFK' special coming

Another syndicated program on the assassination of President Kennedy is being readied by All American Communications, the company that recently did the two-hour live event special "The JFK Conspiracy."

The All American special "The Kennedy Assassinations: Conspiracy or Coincidence" is scheduled for broadcast July 7.

The assassination has been revisited at a galloping pace by the syndicated tabloid shows in recent months, including Twentieth Television's "A Current Affair" and Tribune's "Now It Can Be Told."

The previous All American live event on the assassination April 15 delivered a 7.3 rating nationally, according to A.C. Nielsen data, making it the ninth-ranked syndicated show that week.

"Numerous new witnesses have come forth bearing additional information linking the assassinations of John F. Kennedy and Robert F. Kennedy," said All American senior executive vp Paul Siegel. □
